ABOUT ME

Hello, I'm Andika Nanda, a Social Media Specialist with a background in organic marketing, market research, and business development.

Over the past few years, I've helped businesses grow by understanding their target market, identifying qualified prospects, and building acquisition strategies that create real business opportunities. My experience in organic marketing has also strengthened my ability to analyze audience behavior, uncover market insights, and identify patterns that support smarter business decisions.

I enjoy combining research with strategy. Whether it's finding high-value prospects, understanding market trends, or identifying growth opportunities, I believe every decision should be backed by data rather than assumptions.

LEAD MAGNET STRATEGY REPORT

Prepared by: Andika

Client: Adam Husler (Wellness Coach, London)

1. OBJECTIVE

Currently, Adam Husler wants to optimize his digital ecosystem and structure a scaling funnel for his premium wellness offers. The objective of this lead magnet strategy is to:

- Build an email list with high-quality leads
- Attract four distinct audiences: Yoga Practitioners, Aspiring Teachers, Wellness Coaching Clients, and Workshop/Retreat Attendees
- Position the client as a trusted, professional, and inspirational wellness authority
- Create a structured funnel that moves prospects from awareness to booking a consultation or premium service
- Test different lead magnet formats and messaging based on competitor inspiration

2. COMPETITOR TESTING STRATEGY

Competitor Testing Strategy is conducted to identify the most effective approach to maximize lead conversion rates, benchmark and analyze best practices from three key competitors, and determine the most suitable lead magnet model for the client prior to full implementation

Element	Competitor
	Competitor 1 (Simon Borg-Olivier)	Competitor 2 (Patrick Beach)
Tone of Voice	Academic, highly technical, physiology-focused, and authoritative	Aspirational, performance-focused, athletic, and modern lifestyle
Lead Magnet Format	Free basic platform preview accounts (Masterclasses, practice videos)	7-day free trial pass to custom app ecosystem & multi-day challenges
Delivery Method	Custom website portal / LMS → registration → educational email sequences	Mobile application onboarding → email newsletter → sign-ups → coupon codes

LEAD MAGNET RESEARCH & STRATEGY DEVELOPMENT

- ✓ Researches lead magnet strategies across the client's niche to identify what competitors are using and where the gaps are.
- ✓ Analyzes existing lead magnets by format, topic, and audience appeal to understand what's resonating in the market.
- ✓ Delivers tailored lead magnet recommendations built around the client's target audience and business goals to increase lead capture and audience engagement.

MARKET RESEARCH

Client: Adam Husler | Yoga Education & Online Yoga - @adamhusler

Niche: Wellness coaching - Client is a yoga instructor

Target Market: Adam's clients are mainly UK-based (especially London) with a global online audience interested in yoga, wellness, and movement education.

Summary:

Size:

The global yoga market is a large and growing wellness industry, estimated to be worth over $100 billion globally and projected to continue growing due to increasing demand for mental health support, stress management, and holistic wellness. Another source cited that the yoga market reached $138.7 billion globally in 2026 and is forecasted to reach $269.1 billion in 2033. Adam operates within the premium yoga education and online wellness market, which has strong growth potential through digital classes, memberships, workshops, and teacher education programs.

Popular trends:

Growth of online yoga memberships, shorter and flexible digital classes, yoga focused on stress relief and mental wellbeing, mobility and functional movement, and customers seeking expert-led wellness education rather than just fitness content.

Typical customers:

- Adults aged 30–55 years old, mainly professionals living in urban areas such as London and other major cities.
- Wellness-focused individuals who want to improve their physical health, mobility, mindfulness, and overall quality of life.
- Busy professionals who experience stress, burnout, or lack of work-life balance and want a flexible way to practice yoga.
- Beginner to intermediate yoga practitioners who want guidance from an experienced instructor instead of following random free online videos.
- Yoga teachers or aspiring instructors who want to improve their teaching skills, knowledge, and confidence through mentorship and education.

Customers' expectations:

Expert guidance from an experienced yoga educator, high-quality and accessible online classes, flexible scheduling, safe and clear instructions, a supportive wellness community, and yoga practices that provide long-term physical and mental benefits.

Main challenges:

- Strong competition: The online yoga and wellness industry is highly competitive, with many free YouTube channels, fitness apps, and independent instructors offering similar

- ✓ Conducts and delivers brief market research reports covering industry size, emerging trends, and competitive landscape, giving clients a clear picture of where they stand.
- ✓ Builds out target customer profiles with demographics, lifestyle traits, and buyer expectations to sharpen client's positioning and messaging.
- ✓ Translates raw research into concise, decision-ready summaries, flagging key opportunities and the challenges most likely to affect growth strategy.
